

ULDD Updates to Support SOFR ARM Index Transition

April 21, 2020

On April 1, 2020, Freddie Mac and Fannie Mae (the GSEs) announced updates to the Freddie Mac Single-Family Seller/Servicer Guide and the Fannie Mae Selling Guide reflecting the eligibility and delivery requirement for Secured Overnight Financing Rate (SOFR) indexed adjustable-rate mortgages (ARMs). This is a critical step in the transition from the London Interbank Offered Rate (LIBOR) when originating ARMs and in the alignment the GSEs are doing under the guidance of the Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA).

Earlier the GSEs also jointly announced important Uniform Mortgage Data Program® (UMDP®) updates to support the industry transition to SOFR-indexed ARM loan products. Today’s announcement provides additional Uniform Loan Delivery Dataset (ULDD) and loan delivery implementation details, as well as an updated ULDD Specification. Where possible the GSEs have aligned data requirements and milestones.

ULDD SOFR Related Specification Updates and Implementation Considerations

The ULDD Specification (Appendix D) was updated as follows:

Fannie Mae

- “30 Day Average SOFR” was added as an enumeration to Index Source Type Other Description [Sort ID 111]

Freddie Mac

- “Other” was added as a new enumeration to Index Source Type [Sort ID 110]
- “Index Source Type Other Description” was added as a new data point [Sort ID 111]
- “30 Day Average SOFR” was added as an enumeration to Index Source Type Other Description [Sort ID 111]

The new index must be delivered using Index Source Type = “Other” plus Index Source Type Other Description = “30 Day Average SOFR”.

In addition to the new data described above, SOFR ARM products also require existing loan delivery data as shown below:

Sort ID	ULDD Data Point Name	Enumeration/Value	Notes
110	Index Source Type*	Other	New enumeration for Freddie Mac
111	Index Source Type Other Description	30 Day Average SOFR	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• New data point for Freddie Mac</li> <li>• New enumeration for both GSEs</li> </ul>
113	Interest And Payment Adjustment Index Lead Days Count	45
114	Ceiling Rate Percent		Calculate as Note Rate + 5.000%
115	First Rate Change Payment Effective Date

Sort ID	ULDD Data Point Name	Enumeration/Value	Notes
116	Floor Rate Percent		The Floor Rate Percent must equal the Margin Rate Percent.
117	Interest Rate Rounding Percent	.125%
118	Interest Rate Rounding Type	Nearest
119	Margin Rate Percent		3.000% maximum margin
120	Adjustment Rule Type	First Subsequent	Both enumerations / two data containers are required
121	Per Change Maximum Decrease Rate Percent	First: • 2.000% (3yr and 5yr) • 5.000% (7yr and 10yr) Subsequent: 1.000% (All)
122	Per Change Maximum Increase Rate Percent	First: • 2.000% (3yr and 5yr) • 5.000% (7yr and 10yr) Subsequent: 1.000% (All)
123	Per Change Rate Adjustment Effective Date
124	Per Change Rate Adjustment Frequency Months Count	6 (All)	Note: SOFR ARMs adjust every six months after Initial Fixed Period
236	Initial Fixed Period Effective Months Count	3yr = 36 5yr = 60 7yr = 84 10yr = 120
312	Disclosed Index Rate Percent	nnn.nnnn	The published SOFR Index value used in Closing Disclosure calculations
355	Next Rate Adjustment Effective Date
395	Current Interest Rate Percent
436	Principal And Interest Payment Amount

*Note: Uniform Closing Dataset (UCD) will use the MISMO data point "IndexType".

Sellers should review the updated ULDD Specification, as most systems and/or processes will need to be updated to originate and deliver loans using the new SOFR ARM Index. The GSEs will work closely with vendors to prepare them to support the changes.

Additional Specification Updates

In addition to the SOFR-related changes described above, the GSEs also included additional specification updates to incorporate revisions helpful to Sellers as they prepare for automated underwriting system (AUS) updates in support of the redesigned Uniform Residential Loan Application (URLA), and Freddie Mac's previously announced Single-Family Seller/Service Guide (Guide) updates. Many of these updates are minor clarifications to implementation notes to provide greater guidance, and to update references to programs or products.
